

RICHARD FRANCIS & BRUCE RUSSELL

FRIDAY 27 FEBRUARY 2009, 8PM
THE PHYSICS ROOM
$10 / $8

Auckland-based Richard Francis (aka Eso Steel) has been active as a musician since the mid-90's. His sound work is dominated by an interest in recording, manipulating and combining acoustic and electronic sounds from a variety of sources. In live performance Francis uses acoustic objects, microphones, a modular synthesizer and a computer to create textural and tonal sound works.

Bruce Russell is a Lyttelton-based practitioner in sound, who since 1987 has been a member of the Dead C. He will improvise sound with a vintage electronic organ and a guitar in ways their makers never imagined.

Francis and Russell will also perform collaboratively.
